ABOUT STEAMBOAT SPRINGS AND THE SHERATON RESORT

The Sheraton has decided to turn this resort into time-share vacation properties. This is not our last Ski & Learn program, however, it is our last one at Sheraton Steamboat Resort. Moving to a new location in 2018.

Steamboat, positioned 7,000 feet up in the Colorado Rockies, is home to one of North America's largest ski mountains. This northwestern Colorado ski resort, which averages 27 feet of snow yearly, is renowned for its season-long "champagne powder." The Steamboat ski area gives you not just one mountain to explore but five peaks that include 141 trails (13% beginner, 56% intermediate, 31% advanced), all accessed by one of the Rockies largest lift systems.

Steamboat Springs is also recognized for having one of the finest ski & snowboard schools and the premier kids program in the industry. And, as an added bonus, kids 12 years of age and under ski free when parents purchase a five-day pass.

The Sheraton Steamboat Resort and Conference Center is nestled at the base of the mountain, just steps from the Silver Bullet™ gondola and the dining and shopping attractions in Ski Time Square. This full-service, luxury ski in/ski-out hotel includes: 315 guest rooms, suites and condominiums, each with private balcony; sauna, steam rooms and fitness center; outdoor heated pool and hot tubs; complimentary ski storage and ski valet service; ski & sport shops, gift shop and ski rental; complimentary underground parking, two restaurants and one lounge.

Steamboat Springs is located 22 miles from the Yampa Valley Regional Airport in Hayden. Daily nonstop flights from eight major cities (including Minneapolis/St. Paul and Dallas/Ft. Worth) are available, as are frequent daily jet and commuter connections from Denver. Steamboat is an easy 3 1/2-hour drive (157 miles) from Denver. Steamboat Springs has a wonderful busing system therefore a rental car is not necessary.
